

WEEK 11 19/12

Well I finally got on to Patto this week. Seems he's been hibernating for a while. He backed Confessional in the 5th at Randwick (no good). Zoo backed Bank Robber in the 7th at Randwick (no good) and Origami Miss in the 8th at Flemington (no good). He also had a soccer multi that was Arsenal (win v Hull), Aston Villa (win v Stoke), Chelsea (win v Westham), Man/U (lost to Fulham) and Liverpool (lost to Portsmouth), so no good there.

Nuffa had 2 multi's. $25 on Gale for most runs (no good) into Haritz for most wickets (no good). The other was $25 on NBA Golden State to beat Washington (no good), Cleveland to beat Milwaukee by 10 points or more (no good), EPL Man/U (lost to Fulham and Liverpool (lost to Portsmouth).

Biggsy backed Melbourne Victory against Sydney which ended in a nil all draw. Hayden Kelly also backed Bank Robber on the nose at Randwick (no good).

Our only win for the day came from Rob Ritchie who backed My My Maree $10 each way. It was coming home like a train only to just miss by a short half head. That was the last at Flemington. He also had a running double in the 5th and 6th at Flemington (no good) and backed Macka's horse Blueberry Princess in the 7th at Colac on the Sunday (no good).

We took another big hit this week. Hopefully the new year will bring us a change of luck. We need it!

Go the Punt. Go anything that might win. Go T. Lotto.
